POLITICAL NOTES.

—Yesterday was the liveliest for local politics in Bellefonte that we have witnessed since Sternburg first came to town.

—The astute editor of the Watchman abandoned the cause of certain members of his own party, for a few days, last week, for the purpose of turning his noisy but harmless pop-gun at us.

—A good beginning in life is a great consideration. For instance the editor of the "Watchman" began as a patent churn peddler and now he has got way down among the very buttermilk of the Democratic party, which is continually souring on the rank and file.

—It is said of Andrew Johnson that, since his election as United States Senator, he "has decided to join the church." We are glad to hear it, although there are some grounds for apprehension that his membership will hurt the church more than it will benefit him.

—The Bourbon Legislature of North Carolina proposes to pass a resolution of thanks to the falsifying Kentucky black-guard, Brown. "for his manly defense of the South," in Congress, the other day. If these things are done in the green tree, what shall be done in the dry?

—New York claims the title of mother of Senators, because the newly elected United States Senators from Michigan, Nebraska and Wisconsin, were all born there. And, indeed, New York is a very good State to be born in, provided one emigrates from it at a very early age and never returs.

—We have all along insisted that the Democratic party hadn't sense enough to behave well enough to retain the confidence of the people of the country for any great length of time, and current events are proving it. Prosperity don't at all agree with them, and they will soon have to step down and out.

—Jeff. Davis has been selected to deliver the oration at the dedication of the statue of Gen. Lee, at the University over which he presided, next October. A most felicitous choice. Davis fully believes that the "cause" which fainted in the rebel leader's arms ten years ago, is not dead, but only sleeping, and will return to life again in 1876.

—The Democrats of the New York House of Representatives complain that, although it is Democratic, it is run by the Republicans. The reason is plain however. The Democrats are unfit to run it, although in the majority, and, if the machine is to run at all, the Republicans must run it. The Pennsylvania House is in the same predicament. For all the good the Democrats can do them, in both these States, the people might just as well have given the control, outright to the Republicans.

—What is the reason that, of all the horde of Democratic Constitution savers who are now howling loud enough to crack the blue dome above because the President of the United States, in the exercise of his sworn duty, has prevented a set of cut-throats from inaugurating rebellion and bloodshed in Louisiana, hardly one was ever heard to raise his voice in deprecation or rebuke, when whole States, for the one sole purpose of conserving and extending the hideous curse of human slavery, sprang at and well-nigh throttled the nation's life? Who will explain the mystery?

—The Democratic House of Representatives of New Jersey elected a man as clerk who accepted a bribe of $500 for disposing of an office in his gift, and the House, when it was brought face to face with the disgraceful fact, compelled the bribe-taker to "git up and git." The Democratic House of Representatives of Pennsylvania elected a man as Sergeant-at-Arms, notorious as as a ballot-box stuffer, and under indictment for embezzlement. The facts were fully brought to the notice of the members; but this notorious creature still remains their Sergeant-at-Arms. New Jersey, as far as heard from, is, therefore, just one ahead of Pennsylvania.

——Passenger trains on the Valley road have been uniformly late since the setting in of the frigid term.

NOTARY PUBLIC FEES.

In these times of retrenchment and reform, it is right that every expense entailed upon the masses of our people should be curtailed.

Our attention has been frequently called to a bill passed by Fred. Kurtz in the State Legislature in 1867, which we append below:

AN ACT Relative to the fees of Notaries Public in the Counties of Centre and Lycoming—Section 1—Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same—That from and after the passage of this act, all fees which are now changeable and receivable by the Notaries Public of the Counties of Lycoming and Centre shall be increased fifty per centum; Provided, that the increase authorized by this act, shall not relate to the fees for the acknowledgement of deeds and mortgages.

It will be noticed that this act passed by Mr. Kurtz increases the notarial fee fifty per cent. which makes it now, including bank charges, $2 33. Any fair-minded man will pronounce this an outrage. Of course, the business community will say, that no man should allow his paper to go to protest. But there are times and circumstances which sometimes combine to throw the notes of our best paying men into the hands of a Notary.

In these days when everybody is hard up and money is so very scarce, these officials are reaping a rich harvest at the expense of those who are least able to bear it. The Notary, himself, receives for every protest in Bellefonte, $2.05, while if he is compelled to go out of town to serve the notice, additional charges are entailed. We have no fault to find with our notaries personally, and do not wish to be understood as reflecting on them, because the law entitles them to the fee: but, at the same time, there are a number of responsible men in Bellefonte who would do the work for half the present charges.

We cannot see what Kurtz meant by having such a law passed. Such a way of serving the people is characteristic of his intelligence and desire to serve the poorer classes of the county. Did he receive a fee for having such a law passed? Let the people exercise the constitutional right of petition and have that law repealed forthwith.

In the State of New York the fee is only 75cts, which is certainly quite enough pay for ten minutes work at filling up a few blanks. We understand that petitions are being circulated asking for its repeal, and we are in full sympathy with the movement.

SIX WEEKS OF DEMOCRATIC CONTROL.

What the Record Shows—Recklessness, Incompetency, Disregard of Rules, Contempt of Parliamentary Law, &c.—The Dignity of Legislation Sunk Beneath the Violence of Political Spite—The Session, now half Gone, a Complete Failure—Not More than Six Bills Matured and Passed by the House.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes from Harrisburg to that paper in relation to affairs at the State capitol as follows:

There is nothing that so much attracts attention at the State Capitol now as the incompetency which is manifested on the part of those who lead the majority in the House of Representatives. For six years the Democratic leaders and organs all over the State have been inveighing against what they called the incompetency and untrustworthiness of Republican administration. The burden of Democratic complaint consisted of charges against Republican rule. This is the song which is now sung in condemnation of Republican rule in the South. Democratic newspapers in Pennsylvania are so accustomed to this tactic in political warfare that they neglected for years to say what their principles and platforms meant, in their eagerness to point out defects in Republican authorities, all of which they were profuse in promising could only be remedied by handing over the government to Democratic control. In an hour of political infatuation, and when bewildered by all sorts of doubts and hesitation, the people of Pennsylvania did elect a majority of Democrats to the House of Representatives, and put Democrats at the head of several departments in the State government. We have now had six weeks of Democratic control of the House, and, if there is a record of equal recklessness, incompetency, disregard of rules, contempt of parliamentary law, and personal unfitness for business to be found in any Legislature in the Southern States, composed of freedmen, it has never been given to the public. As a matter of course, the people have been watching the proceedings of the Legislature, and know precisely what is meant by this statement.

For six weeks the House has wrangled over questions irrelevant to legitimate legislation, and in all that time it has not matured nor passed six bills. It really seems as if the plan and purpose of the majority is to trample on the rights of the minority—to "go," as a blatant Democrat expressed it, "for the Republicans." From the Speaker of the House down to the humblest subordinate, this inspiration affords the incentive to almost all that is done. Important public business is ignored to indulge in low political spites; committees waste valuable time in the mad effort to retaliate for imaginary injuries heretofore suffered by the Democracy, because they were kept out of power; and each session of the House is a repetition and an increase of the wrongs which preceded it, until, as I have already written, there is no business done, and the dignity of legislation is sunk beneath the violence of political spite. There has scarcely been a test question in which the Speaker has not violated the clearest and best defined parliamentary law in his decisions, and whereas appeal is taken his party sustains him with a zeal and a unanimity which show that the action of the majority is the result of caucus deliberation, wherein it was resolved to make the proceedings of the House take the shape of a crusade against the Republican minority. This is shown when it is seen that the clerks of the House keep a record which does not compare and harmonize with that mode of the proceedings by the official phonographic reporters, and when the fact is referred to, and the enormity conclusively established, the majority unhesitatingly sustain the fraud, and treat the evidence with contempt. I think it is the most humiliating feature ever produced by the recklessness of any party controlling the lower house for the last fifty years. It is rebellious in a sense which renders it absolutely ridiculous, and proves how fatal was the mistake or blunder of last year's election. In the first place, the election of so many new men to the House was a serious mistake. There have not been as many new men called to seats in the House, at the same session, within the last forty years, and what is still worse, the individual ability is below second rate. If the Democracy had made it a point they could not have selected less able men than those they have delegated to make laws, and it would not be far from correct to say the same of some of the new Republicans sent to legislate for the State at this session. This may seem harsh language, but it is the truth, and however disagreeable it is to assert it, some one must do it for the benefit of the public. The delays, the defeats, and the disgrace which have already been manifested in the House, are the fault, first, of the people, and second of the Democratic party, under whose inspiration the recklessness is directed which has produced all this, and it proves conclusively that the Democratic party is not fit to govern, not competent to make laws, and not to be trusted in the administration of the government. The session, which is now half gone, has been a failure, and the greatest possible benefit it could confer on the people would be to adjourn after providing for the expenses of the government. There is no doubt whatever that the people will elect a Republican House in 1876; and there is also no question that both parties will be more careful hereafter in selecting competent men to make laws.

The Watchman of last week says it presumes, that if Senator Wallace wants to be the next Governor of Pennsylvania, he will speak for himself; and that he didn't have to ask the Radicals to make him Senator, and he will not have to ask them to make him Governor. This is true, and it is equally certain that he didn't have to ask the Watchman whether he might be State Senator last fall. He just went straight ahead and took the nomination despite Modoc delegates, and then he jumped up and shook himself, while the small fry stood from under. He didn't even ask anybody to fill his unexpired term in the State Senate, although his left-handed backer worked so long and so fervently to be his successor. When Mr. Wallace wants anybody to take his place, he'll probably make it known. "So be aisy, gentlemen."

WELL DONE.

Everybody who gives any attention to our county politics, or even anybody who can appreciate a good thing, will be interested and amused in the following account of how the shrewd editor of the Watchman managed to get the delegates of Penn township instructed for his man, W. K. Alexander, for the Legislature. Alexander and Van Ormer are both residents of Penn, and they were both fighting for the delegates of their own township. Things were getting quite interesting—warm, we might say; but Van Ormer actually had three fourths of the Democratic voters pledged to him, and who were determined to beat Alexander. The latter's Modoc proclivities, last fall, and his friendship for Mr. Meek had put him in bad odor among the old line Democrats. Here was a dilemma for Mr. Meek. He wanted that township to instruct for him for Senator, and Alexander (Meek's man) must have the delegates of his own township, if he would come into the convention on the Tuesday following with any show at all. Let the reader observe the genius displayed by the Watchman editor in baffling his opponents and outwitting all the intelligent Democracy of Penn township. He sent for Van Ormer, and said to him, "Van, you get me the delegates of Haines township for Senator, and when you come into the convention I will make all my men on this side go for you. In other words, if you'll get me Penn, I'll get you the nomination for assembly." The bait was a little too big for Van Ormer and he readily consented to the proposition. Mr. Meek printed tickets with his own name on alongside of Van's. In the mean time Alexander was let in to the secret, and his tickets had nobody on for Senator, but a sizeable blank place where Meek's name could be easily written. Everything was in splendid condition when the Saturday of the delegate election arrived. Early in the morning Van began to distribute his tickets with Meek's name on for Senator, while Alexander circulated his tickets among those who would write Meek's name on the blank space. Things worked along splendidly for some time and every vote polled for an hour or two, whether voted by a Van Ormer, or an Alexander man, was for Meek. But the subterfuge did come to light, and as soon as it was found that Van was trying to give the township to Meek, every voter turned against him and Alexander (with his blank place for Meek's name on the ticket) was elected without difficulty. It was the only scheme that would or could have defeated Van Ormer. It was this trick that nominated W. K. Alexander. To be sure the Democracy of Penn township were fooled, but it carried Meek's point—at their expense. Van Ormer, the simple minded, honest miller, was the worst beat man of all.

He digged a pit, he digged it deep;
He digged it for another;
And he fell in that very pit,
That he did dig for t'other.

Who shall now doubt Mr. Meek's ability as a schemer? Who could have done a job better than the above was done? With such a man as leader of the Modocs all the Democracy of Centre County can't take him down.

In the event of Bill Alexander's election, will he be a representative of the people or of the Democratic party only? Only because he is a Modoc, was he our second choice.

Caution.—We have for the last three years been sending out Sample Bottles of Boschee's German Syrup for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. We now find other parties advertising Sample Bottles in the same way. All we have seen of these little Sample Bottles contain Ether or Chloroform, intended only to dry up a cough for a day or two. Be careful to call for BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP which contains no Ether, Chloroform or Opium, but the secret of its success is in a German Extract of ciples of Gum Arabic, and Physicians buy our medicines and use it in their practice successfully. Sold by F. P. Green.

——They had an interesting law suit before Justice Reifsnyder in Penns Valley a few days ago, all about a set of teeth. The set was left to one of the parties by an ancestor, but they didn't fit him; and, as they weren't in use, a friend borrowed them to wear to a party, and he afterwards refused to return them. An injunction was served on the defendant to make him quit using the teeth.

——An old lady named Mrs. Miller, aged ninety three years, died at the residence of her son in Madisonburg, on Monday of last week. She repaired to her bedroom after eating a hearty dinner, and a few minutes after expired.

——Judge Gordon, of the Supreme Court of this State, decided at Erie on January 4th, that a municipal corporation is responsible for damages to pedestrians injured in consequence of the accumulation of ice and snow on the side-walks.

THE LARGEST DIAMOND IN AMERICA.

The largest diamond in the United States is among the glittering objects of interest in the show window of Col. Andrews's diamond palace on Montgomery street. It attracted a great deal of attention yesterday. Its weight is 51 1-16 karats. It was found in Africa two years ago and was taken to Amsterdam, where it was cut and polished. Twenty-two months were occupied in subjecting it to these processes. It is slightly off color, and consequently its value placed at $30,000. Col. Andrew's brother, residing in London, secured the gem and forwarded it to this city. The next largest diamond in America is owned by "Boss" Tweed, and weighs 17½ karats. The late Jim Fisk had one of 15 karats weight. The most valuable diamond owned in San Francisco up to this time is in the possession of Lloyd Tevis, and is said to be worth $15,000.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The new postal treaty between Canada and the United States went into effect on Monday. By its provisions matter mailed in each country must be fully prepaid at the domestic rates of the country of postage; either country will transport the mails of the other through its territory free of charge; patterns and samples of merchandise must not exceed eight ounces, must be so inclosed as to permit of inspection, and the postage on these eight-ounce parcels is forty cents; the domestic registration fee will be charged on registered letters sent from either country; each country will retain all the postage it collects upon mail matter of every kind; and all officers now exchanging mails with Canada will continue to act as officers of exchange under the new arrangements.

OUR ASSOCIATED PRESS LETTER.

PHILADELPHIA, February 17, 1875.

A QUEER CASE.

A somewhat complicated case is now engaging the attention of our Courts. About 12 years ago John McEnery—not he of Louisiana—married a pretty little Irish girl, 17 years of age; soon after John went into the army, and for 7 years was lost sight of; at the end of that time Ellen McEnery married Patrick O'Leary, and a couple of years after Ellen became Mrs. O'Leary, her first husband turned up and claimed his wife; O'Leary was perfectly willing to give up Ellen but Mrs. O'Leary clung to Patrick with a pertinacity which caused O'Leary to have Ellen arrested for bigamy. As Mrs. O'Leary could not obtain bail, she was sent to prison, her case brought to immediate trial by a habeas corpus and the woman was acquitted of the charge of bigamy without the jury leaving their seats.

Now Mrs. O'Leary sues Patrick for support of herself and young O'Leary, and the Court is puzzled to know what to do about it. A jury has determined that Ellen has a title clear to two husbands, and as her No. 2 has alienated her emotions by imprisoning her, Ellen may at any time return to McEnery, which with a weekly support of $10 from O'Leary would be somewhat galling to the feelings of No. 2.

POLITICAL.

In my last letter I stated that politics in this City were decidedly mixed, and gave an illustration of how each party regarded their nominations. We are called upon to elect 24 Judicial Magistrates for the entire City, to take the place of the Aldermen now in office; each citizen can vote for 16, the 24 highest on the ticket to be elected; of course each party nominated 16 men, and now comes the Union League and rejects three of the Republican candidates; and the Central Democratic Association of Penna., rejects six of the 16 nominated by the Democratic Convention; and to crown all the Municipal Reform Club, confirms but eight Democrats of the 16, and an equal number of Republicans, placing eight new men upon each ticket. To tell a well meaning citizen just how to vote, would puzzle the most astute of Philadelphia lawyers. It is comforting to know that we have just 16 good men in this City; and as a much less number would have averted the fate of Sodom, possibly we may be saved a similar fate until after the Centennial. —The chair factory at Mineral Point, Pa., has been leased for a term of ten years by Mr. S. P. Morrell, and it is the intention of that gentleman to commence running it to its full capacity as soon as he can put the machinery, etc., in proper condition.

—Professor Horne, of the State Normal School, formerly of Williamsport, estimates the number of German speaking children attending schools in this State, at 144,000. In his estimate he sets down Berks county as taking care of 18,000 of them. Lancaster comes next with 14,000, Northampton county, 10,000, Lehigh 12,000, and so on.

Where They Go.—There is a boy in Williamsport who tries hard to pattern after Washington. A few days ago a man came in from the country who had a terrible pain in his stomach. He was all bent up, and his face wore an expression of agony that was pitiable to see. He asked this boy if he knew where there was any liquor sold in the town, saying he couldn't stand it much longer if he didn't get some. The boy eyed the stranger for some moments, and then said: "Mister, I cannot tell a lie—I don't know where they sell liquor in this ere town, but if you'll give me some terbacker I'll show you where all the fellows go what's got pains in their stomachs."

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

Poetry.

"NOT DEAD BUT RISEN."

BY MRS. M. A. KIDDER.

Under the greenwood tree
I laid my little one down;
I covered her grave with the daisies fair,
With the lillies white and the roses rare,
In shape of a cross and crown.

And day by day I walked
Round her grave with a silent tread,
Till the sun in the burning west was low,
Then home by the winding path I'd go,
To weep o'er her cradle bed.

I would not lift my eyes
To Heaven's etherial blue;
I sought the peace of my baby's birth
And death—I clung to the clods of earth,
Damp, damp with the rain and dew.

One night in a pleasant dream,
I heard my darling's voice;
I saw the gold of her shining hair,
Her baby cheeks so soft and fair,
And it made my heart rejoice.

She stood in the pearly gate,
And spoke to the angel band;
"My mother sees me now," she cried,
Though never before since her baby died;
And she held out her fair right hand.

I woke, and the dream was gone;
But I never since that day,
Have pictured my babe in its cradle bed,
Or down, down deep with the silent dead,
But well on her shining way.

THERE IS NO DEATH.

There is no death! The stars go down
To rise up on some fairer shore,
And bright in heaven's jeweled crown
They shine for evermore.

There is no death! The dust we tread
Shall change beneath the summer showers
The golden grain or mellow fruit,
Or rainbow tinted flowers.

The granite rocks disorganize,
And feed the hungry moss they bear;
The forest trees drink daily life
From out the viewless air.

There is no death! The leaves may fall,
And flowers may fade and pass away;
They only wait through wintry hours
The coming of May day.

There is no death! An angel form
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread;
And bears our best loved things away,
And then we call them "dead."

He leaves our hearts all desolate,
He plucks our sweetest flowers;
Transplanted into bliss they now
Adorn immortal bowers.

The bird-like voice, whose joyous tones
Make glad these scenes of sin and strife,
Now sings an everlasting song
Around the tree of life.

Wher'er he sees a smile too bright,
Or heart too pure for taint or vice,
He bears it to that world of light
To dwell in Paradise.

Born into that undying life,
They leave us but to come again;
With joy we welcome them the same,
Except their sin and pain.

And ever near us though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread;
For all the boundless universe
Is life—there are no dead.

THE HIDDEN LINE.

The following lines are from the pen of Dr. J. Addison Alexander. It is one of those productions of genius which never dies.

There is a time, we know not when,
A point we know not where,
That marks the destiny of men
To glory or despair.

There is a line by us unseen,
That crosses every path;
The hidden boundary between
God's patience and his wrath.

To pass that limit is to die,
To die as if by stealth;
It does not quench the beaming eye,
Or pale the glow of health.

The conscience may be still at ease,
The spirits light and gay;
That which is pleasing still may please,
And care be thrust away.

But on that forehead God has set
Indelibly a mark,
Unseen by man for man as yet
Is blind and in the dark.

And yet the doomed man's path below
May bloom as Eden bloomed;
He did not, does not, will not know,
Or feel that he is doomed.

He knows, he feels that all is well,
And every fear is calmed;
He lives, he dies, he wakes in hell,
Not only doomed, but damned.

O! where is that mysterious bourne
By which our path is crossed;
Beyond which, God himself hath sworn,
That he who goes is lost.

How far may we go on in sin?
How long will God forbear?
Where does hope end, and where begin
The confines of despair?

An answer from the skies is sent;
"Ye that from God depart,
While it is called to-day, repent,
And harden not your hearts."

RECOVERED.

Forth issuing from my long-kept cottage door,
Released from recent agonizing pain,
How throbs my heart to tread those tracks once more,
And breathe the untainted air of heaven again!
I mind me how the die was all but cast,
How like the unseen weapon was to fall,
And the sad weeks of sickness overpast
Be crowned with death, the issue of it all.
And as I think of this, I feel a growth
Of gratitude my heart and bosom swell,
A sweet enlargement of the breast, that shew'th
More than tongue can speak or words could tell;
The which God takes as a thank-offering,
From one who knows the notes but cannot sing.

Our Story Teller.

"THE STORY OF MY LIFE."

Lecture by Rev. Fred. Bell, the Converted Prize Fighter—His Conversion—Fighting Against Drink—Setting out to Preach—Interesting Incidents.

(Concluded.)

I never said anything to anybody for a while. The impression, however, increased. I told my spiritual father—Mr. Gregg—of it. Said he: "Look how God has blessed you here." He told me afterwards that the thought flashed across his mind like lightning just then—"Fred's getting tired of religion, and he's going to America, where nobody knows him, and where he can have full swing to his old propensities and old life." He used every influence possible to dissuade me from any such thing. I prayed about it but the more I prayed the more irresistible did the impression become. My wife was nearly heartbroken. She had enjoyed so much for two years, and now she thought it was all over. I told my mother. She was the same. And my father—for we were good friends now—he said: "We have stood a great deal from you, and now that we enjoy your company, you are going away." Said I: "I know I am going from friends and among strangers. I don't know a single soul on that continent. But I feel sure I am directed by God to go. If I am not wanted, I will come back again. I won't take any money from Sallie out of the business," I had got

SIX FAT PIGS,

Religion had put them in my sty. You know a pig means something in the old country—much more than it does here. Says I: "I'll sell two of those pigs, and the money will take me across the Atlantic steerage. I can rough it. I don't want to go cabin." I can't tell you of the thousands who tried to change my resolve. Meetings were held with the same purpose. They say there is a great deal of donkey about me—and I believe there is to this day—but as I had the impression that God had told me to go, I thought I must. To show how obstinate I could be, I will say that my wife is one of those who used to think Guinness' stout was good for the baby. I didn't think so, and wouldn't allow it to be used. They thought the child would never get along without it. Seeing me so firm, my wife said: "Well, for your sake and for Christ's sake, it shall not have it." Those of you who know Annie, my daughter, know that she is strong and healthy, much more so than if she had used Guinness' stout and Bass' pale ale. But about my journey. After talking and praying about three months, I resolved to start. I sold my pigs for ten sovereigns. The cost of my steerage was six pounds six shillings, which, you see, took more than half of my money right off. I carried credentials with me concerning my position and character in the Primitive Methodist Church. Three years ago last October I

LANDED AT CASTLE GARDEN

with just three sovereigns in my pocket. I was, of course, beset with runners, but found my way to a boarding house for the night. Next morning I went out to seek work. I've never been afraid of work. I ain't afraid of work to-day. If God told me to stop preaching I would not preach another day. I've been offered $5,000 a year in England to start as a commercial traveler. There's a place waiting for me if I want it, but so long as I am making bad men good and good men better, I think this is my mission. I've done a little work on this church, I think. One day I was helping to grade the ground, and a man came along and said he wanted to see Rev. Fred Bell. Says I: "He's here." "Can I see him?" "Yes." "Well, where is he?" "Right here." (Laughter.) As I walked up Broadway that day I looked right and left for a candy store. After I had passed about thirty blocks I came to the conclusion that Americans didn't eat candy. That was a great mistake. I've found out since that you're the greatest candy eaters in the world. I walked along till I came to Bleeker street. When I had gone around there about half a block I saw a candy store. I think God must have directed me there. When I went in I said, in my Yorkshire dialect, to the woman: "Missis, I WANT A JOB."

"Sit ye down," she said. "What is it you want to-day?" "Well, you make candy here, don't you?" "Yes." "I'd like to get work to make candy, and earn some money." "How long have you been in the country?" This was six o'clock in the morning, and I landed at six o'clock Sunday night. Said I: "Just twelve hours." "I thought so," she said. Then she went to call her husband. "Here's a young man that wants you to give him a job." Directly I opened my mouth the man began to laugh. "Why," said he, "you are a Yorkshire man." "Yes," said I, "I'm a Yorkshire man." "I thought so. I'm just this minute discharging a man. You'd better go down to the backery." "Glory to God!" I said. "Excuse me," said the woman, "but we don't do anything in that line." "I love Jesus," said I. "All right," said the man; "but you'd better go down in the backery." I found out the family were Catholics, but they always treated me well. One time they wanted me to work on Sunday; but when I said my religion wouldn't allow me to do so, they let me have it my own way without pressing the matter. They are still in the same street, and I'm glad to know they're doing a good business. Well, after that I got out of employment I had joined the Bedford Street Church for I couldn't find a Primitive Methodist Church anywhere, and I was resolved that I wouldn't float. I remember asking for a Primitive church. "Why," said the people, "we

NEVER HEARD TELL

of such a church." "I mean the Ranters," said I; for we go by that name, sometimes in the old country, though it's very unjust. I'm death on Ranters at the same time I like to see men and women in earnest. Well, these folks said: "We never heard of them either." So I joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. Dr. Ferris was the minister, and he soon found out that I was in dead earnest. Says he to his people: "We've got here a young man who has got religion, and knows how to talk about it." I soon found out, however, that my language was different from other people's, or other people's was different from mine—I don't know which. So I always cut my addresses short. The Green Street Church at one time sent for a man to hold services. Dr. Ferris said to me; "I want you to go and preach in the Green Street Church." Said I: "I'm a stranger here altogether, yet I'll go and do what I can." It got noised abroad that I was going to preach, and there was a fair congregation to hear me. I gave out the hymns and they sang pretty fairly. Somehow everything seemed strange, yet when I was giving out the hymns I felt good. I started to preach, and I hadn't been at it long before I felt that God was blessing me. But the better I felt the more I went into the

YORKSHIRE DIALECT,

and the people seemed to be greatly interested—so I thought any way, for they turned to each other and nodded, and sometimes laughed, which I thought rather strange. When the services were over, a gentleman asked me home to supper. "You seem to have had a splendid time," I said. "Yes." "And the people seemed to enjoy it because we saw you were having a good time; but the fact is, we didn't understand twenty words all night." (Here Mr. Bell read a verse of a hymn in Yorkshire dialect, to show how incomprehensible it must have sounded.) About this time, as I was out of employment, I began to get in great straits for money. I didn't like to tell Dr. Ferris that I was so situated, so I went on working in the church, and he didn't know anything about it. One Sunday morning I remember going out of my boarding-house without a cent. Other Sundays I had generally been invited home by some one for dinner. But this day was very stormy, and after church they all put on their shawls and coats and nobody invited me to dinner. I got very hungry. I remember praying: "Oh Lord, take my hunger away." And He did. I went to an experience meeting, and had a blessed time. I remember speaking on the words of St. Paul. "For the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed in us." I was suffering the pangs of hunger again after the meeting, and strange to say home to tea. I went to the six o'clock prayer meeting and to church that night but I was so hungry that I didn't hear much of the sermon. I went home to my boarding-house with a sad heart. When the landlord found out what was the matter with me—he was a good-hearted Englishmen—he said: "Why, my lad, you can have any reasonable board you need." I was very much relieved, yet I couldn't help thinking that every day would be bringing me into debt. "Have I made a mistake," I asked myself. I was afraid God was showing me that I had much better have staid in England. Dr. Ferris, however, found out that I was out of employment, and sent me a note to go and see him. When I went there I had walked all the way from down town to Morton street, and my boots and the bottom of my pants were all slush. "Have you walked?" said the Dr. "Yes." "And you are out of employment?" "Yes." "Well, we must find you something to do." That gave me great encouragement. He handed me some money. I was so happy and so glad that I forgot to get into a car until after I had walked ten or twelve blocks. Then I got in one and took out my money to get it changed. To my horror and surpise I found it was a $20 bill. I jumped out of the car as quick as I could and went straight back to Dr. Ferril's house. "Doctor! Doctor!" I said, "do you know what you have done?" "What's the matter, Bell?" "Do you know what you gave me?" "Why it was a twenty-dollar bill!" Said he:

NOBODY INVITED ME

"I WISH IT WAS TWICE THAT"

I always feel these things so much. I went away gladder than ever, and walked a dozen blocks again before I got into a car. The conductor then wouldn't take the bill, and I had to walk. I got employment through Dr. Ferris's exertions as shipping clerk, for I had learned by this time to write pretty well. I managed that kind of work until May, 1872, when I had a call down into Water St. I found that God had just fitted me to work in such a place. When I had been there nearly three months, I resolved that I would go to England and bring over my wife. I went across, and had a good time. Yet I tell you that having been here a year, I became sick of the old country in one week. I love the country of my birth to a certain extent, but I love America better. I have no patience with those Englishmen who come here and are always complaining about this country. If their own country was so much better, why didn't they stay there? or if they are grievously disappointed, why don't they go back? An Irishman used to lunch with me sometimes at a restaurant, and he said one day when he was charged twenty-five cents: "By the powers, if I was in the old country, I would get this lot for fourpence." Said I, "Why didn't you stay there?" "The trouble was, I couldn't get the fourpence." (Laughter.) I've found out that

AMERICANS LIKE A MAN

that will work hard, and I've also found out that they like a man that knows how to talk. God has given me this faculty and I am trying to use it to his service. Well, I had hardly been in England four days before I got a letter from the people of the Fourth Ward, many of them of the roughest and most degraded classes, male and female. They asked me to come out, "first class cabin," and sent money enough to cover the expense. They said they wanted me back. I never knew who sent the money. It came as a "token of slight regard" for me. I had intended to come out cabin any way, but this time it was at the expense of Americans, and of people shunned and despised. It was a kindness that my soul and heart has never forgotten. I want to tell you that down in those neighborhoods God has some of his own jewels. When the day of reckoning comes, you'll see thousands of them washed in the blood of the Lamb. When I first landed, I took my wife right into the

SLUMS OF THE FOURTH WARD,

New York. It was a kind of life entirely foreign to her habits and nature, but I heard never a complaining word, though sometimes we were wakened at night by the cry of "murder." For twenty months she remained there with me. We had a little son born to us there. We call him our 'Fourth Ward Boy," and I rejoice that he is just as eligible to be President as any boy in the land. I myself would rather be a humble preacher than President of the United States, but I glory in the fact that here every one has the same chance. I intend to fight hereafter for the blood-stained banner of the Cross, and with the stars and stripes very near it. (Applause.)

DELLA DORAN.

It was at the close of a sultry day about the first of May, 1864, that a single horseman might have been seen riding along the turnpike a few miles west of Chancellorsville.

He was apparently about forty or fifty years of age, large powerful frame, bold open countenance, and possessed of a daring, restless eye. His attire being semi-military and semi-citizen, it would be hard to determine to which of the opposing parties he belonged.

He wore the blue cap of the Yankees, the grey blouse of the Confederates, and the remainder of his apparel was that of an ordinary citizen.

His horse, a large powerful bay, swept along with an easy pace.

By making an abrupt turn he left the main road, and entering a bridle path was soon in a dense forest.

The sun had already gone down when he emerged from the forest, and riding up to a large farm house asked lodging for the night.

The farmer who was a perfect 'southern fire-eater,' eyed him a moment suspiciously, and then in multifarious tones said:

"Well, yes, I reckin stranger as you might stay; though the country be so torn up that one can't tell who to take in. Who are you, anyway?"

"Simply a weary and benighted traveler, who will leave with the morning's dawn."

The traitorous looking farmer called to a negro who was near, and bade him put the traveler's horse in the barn. The stranger accompanied him and had the horse put in the stall nearest the door with the saddle on.

"Debblish strange," muttered the negro. "Must be afeared some one's comin to gobble 'um up."

As soon as the negro had a chance to speak privately with his master, he informed him of the manner he had left the horse at the stable.

"I'll watch him, Jake, and you remain handy, for I suspect he is Mead's scout, Glorcus. If he should be, I want you to go to the forest after Hawkers."

The negroe's eyes sparkled greedily as he replied:

"Golly, Massa, only find out and I'm off to de woods in no time."

During this short conversation the subject of it was in the sitting room, quietly smoking a short black pipe, while he seemed buried in thought. He had unbuckled his sabre, and leaned it against the wall but the pistols were still in his belt around his waist.

His blue cap was placed on his knee, and his iron-gray hair fell about his shoulders in profusion, while his keen, restless eyes kept constantly in motion. As he sat there he looked what he really was, a desperate character.

His reverie was at length broken by the entrance of a pretty, black-eyed girl, who announced supper.

"Very glad," said the stranger, "in fact I am very hungry, Miss. What may I call you?"

"Della."

"Della? A very pretty name. You are the gentleman's daughter?"

"No sir."

"His niece, then?"

"No sir."

"A relative then, anyway?"

"I think no relation at all. I am simply an orphan girl—Della Doran—whom Mr. Biswick has taken to raise; but supper waits."

The stranger started up at the sound of the name, bent a keen glance on the lovely girl, but said not a word.

The landlord, his foster daughter and the stranger were the only occupants of the supper table.

Mr. Biswick being somewhat talkative intimated that the fair girl was not his child, but the daughter of a scamp who had deserted her at her mother's death, gone to California, and he had kept her merely out of gratitude.

The stranger seemed almost to struggle as the farmer still continued to degrade the girl.

He raised his hands to brush a cold sweat from his brow, and as he did so a small slip of paper fell from his blouse pocket to the floor.

It was unnoticed by any save Mr. Biswick.

When supper was over they all arose from the table, and the planter passing around adroitly slipped the note in his pocket.

Conducting the stranger to the sitting room he left him, and going into a private room, lit a candle, and glanced at the note. It was brief as follows:

"Forward to the front, Glorcus.

GEN. MEAD."

"Ho, ho! I know him now," chuckled the farmer. "He is Glorcus, the famous scout. There's a reward for him and I'm a fool if I don't get it."

At a signal the negro entered.

"It's as I expected Jake, he is Mead's scout. Go at once for Hawkers. The reward is ours."

"I'll go, Massa, I'll go," said the negro and pulling on his cap ran out in the night air. Once out he muttered to himself:

"Golly, if it am Glorcus, debbil be to pay when dey cotch um. Dis chile be skeered den."

Having dispatched the negro for the confederates, the wicked, traitorous farmer returned to the room in which the object of his betrayal sat, and entered into conversation with him.

The eyes of Glorcus rolled suspiciously about, but he otherwise evinced no apprehension of danger.

Complaining of ennui from the effect of the days travel, he proposed to retire. This was what Biswick desired, and he cheerfully led the way to the bed chamber.

As soon as the confederate left the room, the scout buckled on his saber, instead of retiring to bed, and remained at the window in a listening attitude.

He had not long been in this position when a tap at the door aroused him. With revolver in his hand he opened the door cautiously.

Pale and trembling the girl, Della Doran, entered, making frantic gestures for him to keep silence. Seizing the frightened maiden by the hand, the brave old scout said:

"What is it, my dear, that frightens you?"

Seeming to gain strength from his kind words, she replied:

"Oh! sir, fly from here; you are in deadly peril! Each moment you remain increases your danger!"

The scout received this startling announcement as cooly as if it had been an order from his general, and merely said:

"You will give me some information as to the nature of my danger if you wish me to avert it."

"Mr. Biswick thinks you are the great scout Glorcus, and has sent for guerrillas to arrest you."

"For Mosby?"

"No, worse. Mosby has some humanity and power; but he has sent for the wretch Steve Hawkers."

"Never fear," said the scout.

"But you will go nevertheless?"

"I will not be taken; but you must answer some questions first."

"Ask them quick."

"Is your name really Della Doran?"

"It is."

"Do you remember anything of your parents?"

"Not a great deal. My mother died when I was young, and I can just remember my father leaving me with Mr. Biswick and going to California."

"Do you love your foster father?"

"No sir, I cannot. He is very cruel and swears I shall marry Capt. Hawkers."

"That is sufficient, I shall go now, but I will return soon and tell you something."

Arising he glided out of the room, and Della having accomplished her errand of mercy, retired.

The famous scout managed to reach the stable unperceived, and securing his horse, led him to the rear of the house and hitched him to a tree. Then, bolting a revolver in each hand, crept over the wall and walked up the garden path.

Flashing lights and confused voices told him that the confederates had come. A heavy tread of feet was heard coming down the garden walk, and he distinguished the voice of the negro saying:

"Let 'um kill 'im; but golly, don't cotch me near; I might get a stray bullet!"

In an instant the scout leveled a pistol at the head of the treacherous black, and fired. Without a groan the negro fell dead in the garden walk.

With yells of vengeance the guerrilla rushed towards the scout, who nimbly leaped the garden fence, vaulted into the saddle, and amidst flashing swords and whizzing shots, dashed off into the forest.

"To horse; after him," shouted Capt. Hawkers. "Five thousand to the man who brings him down."

Then there was mounting in hot haste, and the confederates thundered on after him.

The scout having reached an open spot about three miles from the farm-house, paused on the opposite side in a thick growth of underbrush, with a cocked pistol in each hand, the rein in his teeth, and thus waited for his pursuers to come up.

In the course of half an hour the guerrillas, seven in number, rode into the open spot and paused for consultation.

Various conjectures were made as to the whereabouts of the scout, and the rebel captain vowed he would give a good round sum to know just where he was.

His speech was cut short by the crack of a pistol, and Captain Hawkers fell from his horse.

Two guerrillas drew holsters and returned the fire, but now pistol shot after pistol shot from an unseen quarter, and three confederates fell. The remainder, terror-stricken, fled.

The scout rode out on the plain to examine his fallen foe. Three were quite dead, and the fourth was dying. Leaving the field of carnage he made his way back to the farm house. Fastening his horse near the gate he entered it. As he was passing across the hall he heard a voice, in a room on the right begging for mercy.

"Don't plead to me for mercy," said the harsh voice of Biswick. "You told the Union scout that Hawkers was coming. Now take that!"

A blow and a scream followed.

"Hold!" thundered the scout bursting into the room.

"What right have you to command me to hold?" cried the astonished rebel.

"The right of a father!"

"A father?"

"Yes, James Biswick. I am Albert Doran, who years ago trusted my infant daughter with you while I went to California to amass a fortune. I made it in an obscure mine, and concealed it in a cache, but was at that time captured by the savages and kept a prisoner for years. I made my escape, secured the hidden treasure, and returned to the states just as the war broke out. I joined Mead's corps under the assumed name of Glorcus. My experience in Indian warfare has made me the great scout I am. I am now here to claim my child."

With the beautiful Della behind him on his powerful horse, he rode into Mead's camp the next morning at sunrise. It was in the midst of the terrible battle of the Wilderness, that Doran met and struck Biswick dead with his vengeful sword.

"This," said he, "is for your cruelty to my child."

Don't Kiss the Baby.

The promiscuous kissing of children is a pestilent practice. We use the word advisedly, and it is mild for the occasion. Murderous would be the proper word, did the kissers know the mischief they do. Yes, madam, murderous; and we are speaking to you. Do you remember calling on your dear friend Mrs. Brown the other day, with a strip of flannel around your neck? And when little Flora came dancing into the room, didn't you pounce upon her demonstratively, call her a precious little pet, and kiss her? Then you serenely proceeded to describe the dreadful sore throat that kept you from prayer meeting the night before. You had no designs on the dear child's life, we know; nevertheless you killed her! Killed her as surely as if you had fed her with strychnine or arsenic. Your caresses were fatal.

Two or three days after the little pet began to complain of a sore throat too. The symptoms grew rapidly alarming; and when the doctor came, the single word diphtheria sufficed to explain them all. To-day a little mound in Greedwood is the sole memento of your visit.

Of course the mother does not suspect, you of any instrumentality in her bereavement. She charged it to a mysterious Providence. The doctor says nothing to disturb the delusion; that would be impolitic, if not cruel; but to an outsider he is free to say that the child's death was due directly to your internal stupidity. Those are precisely his words; more forcible than elegant it is true; but who shall say, under the circumstances, that they are not justifiable? Remember

"Evil is wrought by want of thought
As well as by want of heart."

It would be hard to tell how much of the prevalent sickness and mortality from diphtheria is due to such want of thought. As a rule, adults have the disease in so mild a form that they mistake it for a simple cold; and as a cold is not contagious, they think nothing of exposing others to their breath or to the greater danger of labial contact. Taking into consideration the well established fact that diphtheria is usually if not always communicated by the direct transplanting of the malignant vegetation which caused the disease, the fact that there can be no more certain means of bringing the contagion to its favorite soil than the act of kissing, and the further fact that the custom of kissing children on all occasions is all but universal, it is not surprising that, when the disease is once imported into a community, it is very likely to become epidemic.

It would be absurd to charge the spread of diphtheria entirely to the practice of child-kissing. There are other modes of propagation, though it is hard to conceive of any more directly suited to the spread of the infection or more general in its operation. It stands to diphtheria in about the same relation that promiscuous hand-shaking formerly did to the itch.

It were better to avoid the practice. The children will not suffer if they go unkissed, and their friends ought for their sake to forego the luxury for a season. A single kiss has been known to infect a family, and the most careful may be in a condition to communicate the disease without knowing it. Beware, then, of playing Judas, and let the babies alone.

WHEN THE PENNSYLVANIA OIL SPRINGS WERE FIRST DISCOVERED.

A full century ago the existence of oil-springs in Western Pennsylvania was a published and well established fact. In the Massachusetts Magazine, published n 1789, we find the following in relation to them: "In the northern part of Pennsylvania there is a creek called Oil Creek, which empties into the Allegheny River. It issues from a spring on the top of which floats an oil, similar to that called Barbadoes tar, and from which one may gather several gallons a day. The troops sent to guard the western posts halted at this spring, collected some of the oil, and bathed their joints with it. This gave them great relief from the rheumatism with which they were afflicted. The water, of which the troops drank freely, operated as a gentle purge.

"There is still earlier evidence of the existence of the oil-springs than this. It is found in an old book published in 1772, entitled, "Travels in North America," by Peter Kalm. On a map in this volume the exact location of the oil-springs is given."

We take this from an exchange; but this is still far behind. As early as 1629, almost a century and a half before Kalm's book appeared, a Franciscan missionary' Joseph de la Roched' Allion, who crossed the Niagara River into what is now New York State, wrote a letter, in which he mentions the oil springs, and gives the Indian name of the place, which he explained to mean, "There is plenty there." His letter was printed in Sagard's "Histoire du Canada," in 1632, and subsequently in LeCleiq.

The Need of Education in the South.

It is apparent to every man who approaches the discussion of the Southern problem with candor that the great need of that section is popular education. There are four millions of negroes in the South, of whose dense ignorance a great deal of political capital has been made by the Democratic press. Admitting that the vast majority of these people can neither read nor write, nobody has yet asserted that they believe ignorance is bliss, and that they have no aspirations above their present mental condition, simply because the facts are against the assertion. The negroes of the South are hungry for education, and every educational opportunity offered them is seized with the avidity with which a starving man snatches food. But the illiteracy of the South is not marked by color lines. There are white men unable to read their ballots and write their names as well as negroes. For instance, the last census of the United States showed that in the States following the numbers attached to each represented the white males above the age of twenty-one who could not read nor write:

Missouri	24,780
North Carolina	33,111
South Carolina	12,490
Tennessee	27,713
Texas	17,505
Virginia	27,646
West Virginia	15,181
Georgia	21,599
Kentucky	43,828
Louisiana	12,048
Maryland	13,346
Mississippi	9,351
Alabama	17,429
Arkansas	13,610
Florida	3,875

Admitting these illiterate white males are Democrats, and the probability is that ninety-nine one hundredths of them are, and we find that more than thirty per cent of the men who voted the Democratic ticket in Missouri in 1870 could not read or write; that more than forty per cent. of the voters of the same party in North Carolina in the same year are to be classed in the same category; in Tennessee the per cent was over thirty, and so on through the entire list. We repeat that the great want of the South is popular education, which shall include both races. Whether in mixed schools or not is another question. The states themselves are unwilling or unable to provide school systems, and without them all the civil-rights bills that could be passed between this day and the Centennial anniversary of the Declaration of Independence would be worthless—the shadow without the substance.

From so much wild, loose talk about Federal interference, one might think the general government something outside, distinct from, and antagonistic to the people; something says an exchange, whose acts should be judiciously watched, and whose encroachments must be resisted; whereas it is of and for the people; created by their act, and by the same remanded to private life. The Federal Government is only different from the State in the extent of its constituency, so that its acts are those resulting from a greater aggregation of citizens. So long as the Federal Government remains unchanged in its character and constitution we fear no danger from usurpation. Of course States, and for that matter towns, as well, should be left as free to govern themselves as possible, and yet the State and nation must primarily see that a citizen of either is everywhere protected in all his rights, and to this extent Federal interference is necessary and desirable.

The Democratic lower House is rapidly making history for itself. First, it arrayed itself on the side of the Rebels of Louisiana, and not satisfied with that, has undertaken to deny to the Republican members the rights which the rules of the House give them. That is exactly the course pursued in all the Rebel legislatures. First, commit themselves to the Rebels and then deny loyal men any of the rights guaranteed.

A Country paper tells this story of a new boy in one of the Sunday schools; "The precious youth was asked who made the beautiful hills about there, and replied that he did not know, as his parents only moved into town the day before."

Moral and Religious.

For the Republican.

Truth and Error—God and Satan.—Truth is an Eternal, vital principle. Error is falsehood, and is the offspring of the unlawful exercise of mind: the only lawful exercise being that which is compatible with Truth, hence it is impossible for error to have a co-eternal existence with truth, and much more impossible is it to have priority.

The Eternal God above hath truth in its absolute existence; and it is vested in Christ as being the Son of God, and one with the Father, while the Holy Ghost is "the Spirit of Truth."

Angels were created in truth, and being creatures cannot have truth in its absolute sense with the Creator; but only in a degree or sense equal to their relation to their Maker; equal, I say, to their reciprocal allegience. Here then is a demand for the exercise of the mind, arising from the position, for which they alone are responsible who have it. Hence, being formed in truth, they have no one to oppose them, but themselves, God being absolute, and if they abide not in it; being free to the exercise of intellect; they themselves thrust themselves into error, and the first one of all so to do, becomes the chief of error. Hence the origin of The Devil; for there is one, who did first forsake it, who "abide not in the Truth;" and therefore has no truth in him. Hence also "when he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own; for he is a liar and the father of it."

No difference therefore, how much a man may lie, or how deep he may be in error, he can by no means claim, nor can he be charged with the originality of it. There are too many of his own race ahead of him, to say nothing of angels who were the first to transgress, and one among them in particular.

In the face of these facts, both scriptural and natural—he who says, there is no Devil; must also of evident necessity, say, "there is no God," and himself more than a fool.

Ad Infinitum.

Possibilities of Grace.

How good can we be? The question perplexes many. Without respect for any theories and specialities of experience we may get instruction and encouragement from a few passages of Scripture.

Possible to "love God with all our heart." And in thus loving God, it is found possible to "keep the commandments." Blessed experience and blessed obedience! Do we so love, and thus fully obey? If not, then we should pray 'for grace to love him more.'

Possible to have a 'perfect love that casteth out fear.' Do we fear and hesitate in our approach to the throne of grace? Have we not fullest and sweetest confidence in saying 'Our Father?' When love casts out the soul is on terms of of perfect understanding with God.

Possible to be 'kept from the evil.' O, can it be? Evil all around; all vileness within sight and hearing, and all the powers of Hell conspiring with evil men to tempt to destroy, yet possible to be 'kept from the evil!' So the Saviour prayed. Amen. As the three worthies were kept from burning in the furnace; as we may be kept; the taint of sin need not be in the garments of the soul. Walk with us Jesus!

Possible to be 'preserved blameless.'—Blameless in body, in soul, in spirit! Not simply made blameless, or dying blameless, but 'preserved blameless.' Through all the day, from new year to new year, purity in every intention, every word spoken in the fear of God, every act approved by God, every thought and every feeling right—blameless!

Possible to come to 'the stature of the fullness of Christ;' possible to 'walk even as he walked.' An attainment to be experienced but not described.

Possible to 'abide in Christ.' No occasion to wander; no disposition to go astray; at home, at rest; the soul, the entire being satisfied with Christ.

Possible to have the 'Father and Son take up their abode with us.' What guests! The triune with us, and we with the triune! 'A heaven to go to heaven in.'

Possible to 'triumph always.' Glory! Victory a foregone conclusion! All the 'fears within' silenced and dismissed, and all the foes without thoroughly under our feet!

And possible to be 'presented perfect in Christ Jesus.' Can it be? So often erring; so ofter wearied; so apt to doubt; can it be that in grace we may be presented perfect? O, what a Saviour; a Jesus indeed, saving his people from their sins,' pardoning all, cleansing all, clothing us in righteousness, making us holy in all our nature forever.—Vt. Messenger.

CALDWELL'S
WINE AND IRON BITTERS
These celebrated Bitters are pure, safe and reliable; composed of Roots, Barks and Herbs with Citrate of Iron and pure native wine, made from the native grapes of California, the ingredients are choice, strengthening, purifying and life-giving medicinal agents, forming the most pleasant and healthy stimulating tonic and strengthening Bitters for improving the appetite giving tone and vital energy to the blood and system. For medicinal purposes, for family use, travelers, voyagers, etc., they cannot be surpassed.
These bitters are in an eminent degree strengthening, purifying, diuretic stimulating and nourishing to the whole system, giving new life and activity to every organ and part alike, without that ever recurring reaction that follows the use of most all other tonics and stimulants in the market. For

No other Bitters in the universe can equal them. I lack space for detailing the availability of these Bitters, but will briefly state its general effects upon the human system, as follows:
It absolutely Purifies the Blood. It speedily corrects all morbid changes in the Blood. It equalizes the circulation of the Blood. It regulates the supply and quality of the blood. It prepares the Blood to furnish a proper support to all the vital properties. It enriches the constituents of the Blood upon which the vital energy of the system is dependent. It infuses the proper degree of animal heat in the system. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions. It imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the body. It corrects all derangements, however trivial, which are the first origin of Disease. It promotes the operation of the digestive organs. It improves the appetite and removes all disagreeable feeling after eating. It perfects digestion, rendering it natural and easy. It acts as a mild and efficacious stomachic. It elevates the standard of all the vital forces. It strengthens the nervous fibres and diffuses a calm throughout the nervous system. It destroys all morbid conditions of the mind. It disperses dullness and languor. It banishes those clogs upon pleasure which produce gloom. It drives away those distressing symptoms which rob us of happiness. It revives the physical energies by infusing new life and power into the system. It fortifies the system against the dangers of malaria, fluctuations of the temperature changes in the climate, &c. In short, it prepares the system for the radical change to be wrought in its condition, and restores it to perfect health and natural vigor.

VINEGAR BITTERS
VEGETABLE — FREE FROM ALCOHOL
PURELY — DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS
Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of Vinegar Bitters?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of Vinegar Bitters in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.
The properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.
Grateful Thousands proclaim Vinegar Bitters the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.
No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.
Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, through out our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.
Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with Vinegar Bitters. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.
Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.
Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, Walker's Vinegar Bitters have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.
For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.
Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of Walker's Vinegar Bitters occasionally.
For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.
Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.
For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

A FUND FOR THE POOR.—There was a large meeting of ladies and gentlemen at the room of the Young Men's Christian Association on Monday evening. The object of the meeting was to ascertain the extent of distress and destitution in our midst, and to devise some way by which substantial aid and relief could be speedily offered. On motion of Gen. James A. Beaver, Adam Hoy, Esq., was elected chairman, and J. L. Spangler, Esq., Secretary of the meeting.

A. O. Furst, Esq., stated that he had a fund of several hundred dollars in his hands, which had been raised duing the war for the benefit of needy soldiers and their families, and that, in as much as the fund had been mostly donated by the town, he was ready to pay it over to the treasurer to be elected by the meeting if the meeting could accept it.

William P. Wilson, Esq., also remarked that he had a small fund in his hands which he would be willing to pay over to the meeting for the purpose of affording assistance to the needy. Mr. A. Brew, also said he had some money in his possession originally raised for the benefit of the "Reserves," which could be had for the object of the meeting.

On motion of W. P. Willson, Esq., the various funds were accepted and parties holding them authorized to pay them to the treasurer to be elected by the meeting. A. O. Furst, Esq., was elected treasurer of the meeting. Edmund Blanchard, Esq., asked for reports of the actual condition of poor families in our midst. The ladies generally reported many cases of extreme distress, which had come under their personal observation.

General Beaver thought it best to expend the present fund, and, in doing so, the amount of money necessary for the relief of the needy could then be ascertained. He moved that an Executive Committee of five gentleman be appointed to seek out and report to the Executive Committee these persons who stand in need of assistance. The motion was carried and the chairman instructed to make the appointment.

The Executive Committee consists of the following: S. S. Lyon, chairman, John T. Johnson, D. Z. Kline, H. Y. Stitzer and Robert Valentine.

The Committees from the various churches are as follows:

Presbyterian—Mrs. A. G. Curtin, Mrs. W. P. Wilson and Mrs. B. L. Batchellor.

Methodist—Mrs. W. V. Hughes, Mrs. Sourbeck, and Mrs. Bond Valentine.

Friends—Miss Clara Valentine, Mrs. Eliza Thomas and Mrs. Hagerman.

Lutheran—Mrs. R. H. Forster, Mrs. Amos Mullen and Mrs. E. Tyson.

Episcopal—Miss Emily Natt, Mrs. G. Valentine and Mrs. T. R. Reynolds.

Reformed—Mrs. Jared Harper, Mrs. Ponteus and Mrs. Daniel Derr.

United Brethren—Mrs. Jacob Seibert, Miss Florance and Mrs. Mary Reese.

The Executive Committee, on motion of Mr. Isaac Mitchell, was authorized to call a public meeting whenever the present fund of five hundred dollars was exhausted. Adjourned.

Philadelphia Market Report.

Monday, Feb. 15, 1875.

Trade has been remarkably quiet since our last notice, and we have relatively few changes to record in any description of merchandise. Money continues easy and capital is cheap, but there has been a marked absence of any speculative feeling. The recent fluctuations in gold have caused some little disturbance in values, but the merchants are confident of an easy money market for months to come.

WHEAT—The cable advices have again been unfavorable, and prices are 1a2 cents lower than at the close of our last. The export trade has been unimportant and the millers only purchased for immediate necessities. The receipts, however, are light. Sales of 10,000 bus Penna. and Western Red at $1.16a1.20—chiefly at $1.16a1.18 3,600 bus western Amber at $1.21a1.25; and small lots of White at $1.27a1.32. Today the markets closed very quiet, at a late decline, with sales of 400 bus Indiana Red, poor at $1.12; 400 bus Western do, prime, at $1.18; 1,200 bus do Amber from $1.18a 1.22, and 1,200 bus do White from $1.32 to 1.34. Prices of Spring are entirely nomnial Receipts of last week, 29,800 bushels.

RYE—Is held firmly. Sales of 800 bus Penna. and Western at 92 cents. Receipts for week 1,200 bushels.

CORN—The market has been stronger, with a fair demand for local consumption and export. Sales of 1,600 bus Southern, Penna. and Western Yellow at 77a79c—chiefly in the cars; 6,000 bus Western mixed, in the cars, at 77a80c; 40,000 bus do do, part at 79a80c, f. o. b., and part on secret terms. Today the market closed quiet, with sales of 3,000 bus Pennsylvania and Western Yellow at 78a79c, on the track, chiefly at the latter figure: and 4,000 bus Western mixed at 78a79c—chiefly at 78c, f. o. b. Receipts for the week, 78,800.

OATS—Are dull and freely offered. Sales of 14,000 bus Western White ot 64a66c, and 3,000 bus dark and light mixed at 62a64½c. Today 3,100 bus Western White sold at 65a66c. Receipts for the week, 23,300 bus.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

AMERICANS ARE A NATION OF DYSPEPTICS.—We live fast, dissipate and fill early graves. We drink all kinds of alcoholic spirits, and swallow, without mastication, pork, grease, and every kind of life-destoying, system-clogging, indigestible food. Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters will remove the evil effects, and the recovered patient, with pure, vitalized electrical blood flowing through his veins will have a clearer judgment, which added to experience, will cause him to abstain in the future. 4-4t

CONSUMPTIVES, TAKE NOTICE.—Every moment of delay makes your cure more helpless, and much depends on the judicious choice of a remedy. The amount of testimony in favor of Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure for consumption, far exceeds all that can be brought to support the pretensions of any other medicine. Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing the certificates of many persons of the highest respectibility, who have been restored to health, after being pronounced incurable by physicians of acknowledged ability. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many, as these evidences will show; but the cure is often promoted by the employment of two other remedies which Dr. Schenck provides for the purpose. These additional remedies are Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. By the timely use of these medicines, according to directions, Dr. Schenck certifies that most any case of Consumption may be cured.

Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, Corner Sixth and Arch St., Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. 5-4t

THERE is, probably, no way in which we can benefit our readers more than recommending to them for general use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. It is adapted to almost all the purposes of a Family Medicine; and as specific for coughs, colds, whooping cough, soreness of the chest, lame stomach, rheumatism, spitting of blood, and all lung difficulties, it has no equal that ever we saw or heard of.

The propriety of giving condition medicine to horses, cattle and sheep, was discussed and admitted by many Agricultural Societies throughout the State last Fall, and we believe that in every case but one they decided in favor of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders. Good judgment.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

VEGETINE

Strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous system.

VEGETINE

Is not a vile, nauseous compound, which simply purges the bowels, but a safe, pleasant remedy which is sure to purify the blood and thereby restore the health.

VEGETINE

Is now prescribed in cases of Scrofula and other diseases of the blood, by many of the best physicians, owing to its great success in curing all diseases of this nature.

VEGETINE

Does not deceive invalids into false hopes by purging and creating a ficticious appetite, but assists nature in clearing and purifying the whole system, leading the patient gradually to perfect health.

VEGETINE

Was looked upon as an experiment for some time by some of our best physicians, but those most incredulous in regard to its merit are now its most ardent friends and supporters.

VEGETINE

Instead of being a puffed-up medicine has worked its way up to its present astonishing success by actual merit in curing all diseases of the blood, of whatever nature.

VEGETINE

Says a Boston physician, "has no equal as a purifyer. Hearing of its many wonderful cures after all other remedies had failed, I visited the labratory and convinced myself of its genuine merit. It is prepared from barks, roots and herbs, each of which is highly effective, and they are compounded in such a manner as to produce astonishing results."

VEGETINE

Is acknowledged and recommended by physicians and apothecaries to be the best purifier and cleanser of the blood yet discovered, and thousands speak in its praise who have been restored to health.

WHAT IS NEEDED.

BOSTON, Feb. 13, 1871

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. VEGETINE was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefited by its use. I procured the article, and after using several bottles, was restored to health and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for these complaints for which it is especially prepared, and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health. Respectfully yours.

U. L. PETTINGILL,
Firm of S. M. Pettingill & Co., 10 State St. Boston.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26, 1872.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—The two bottels of VEGETINE furnished me by your agent, my wife has used with great benefit.

For a long time she has been troubled with dizziness and costiveness; these troubles are now entirely removed by the use of VEGETINE.

She was also troubled with Dyspepsia and General Debility; and has been greatly benefited.

THOMAS GILMORE, 299½ Walnut Street.

FEEL MYSELF A NEW MAN.

NATICK, MASS., June 1st, 1872.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—Through the advice and earnest persuasion of Rev. E. S. Best, of this place, I have been taking VEGETINE for Dyspepsia, of which I have been suffering for years.

I have used only two bottles and already feel myself a new man. Respectfully,

DR. J. W. CARTER.

REPORT OF A PRACTICAL CHEMIST AND APOTHECARY.

BOSTON, Jan. 1, 1874.

Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have sold at retail 154½ dozen (1852 bottles) of your VEGETINE since April 12, 1870, and can truly say that it has given the best satisfaction of any remedy for the complaints for which it is recommended, that I ever sold. Scarcely a day passes without some of my customers testifying to its merits on themselves or their friends. I am perfectly cognizant of several Scrofulous Tumors being cured by VEGETINE alone in this vicinity. Very respectfully yours,

A. I. GILMAN, 468 Broadway.

To H. R. STEVENS, Esq. 7-1m

THE ILLUSTRATED
HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE,
WITH WHICH IS INCORPORATED
WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE.

It is the intention of the conductors of this Magazine to still further make it a model of literary and mechanical excellence, and, with this view, no advantage will be neglected which either talent or capital can command to render each issue an agreeable and instructive compendium of

POPULAR READING.

Its pages will be devoted to popular literature, science, art, education and social development. Its characteristic feature is comprehensiveness. The manuscripts now on hand, and others especially engaged, embrace an usually attractive list of

DESCRIPTIVE SKETCHES OF TRAVEL,
SERIAL STORIES, TALES, POEMS,
PAPERS ON SCIENCE AND ART,
POPULAR ESSAYS, NARRATIVES,
LITERARY CRITICISMS, FASHIONS, etc.,

together with a variety of able and interesting articles upon the important Questions of the Day. A large portion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be

PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine hereafter constituting one of its most attractive features.

The purpose of the Publishers is to furnish a periodical which shall be instructive in THE HOUSEHOLD, THE LIBRARY and THE READING ROOM, giving an abundance of entertaining and popular literature and information for both old and young, carrying light comfort and good nature into every family, and making it acceptible for the whole Household—father and mother, boys and girls, young men and young women.

THE ILLUSTRATED HOUSHOLD MAGAZINE

includes several DISTINCT DEPARTMEMTS, each under competent and efficient management, viz:

1. SKETCHES—consisting of Descriptions of Travel and Adventure, Serial Stories, Tales and Narratives, lavishly and appropriately illustrated.
2. MISCELLANY—made up of brilliant extracts from new books, highly entertaining sketches of notable persons and things from the best Foreign Publications, Poems and Papers on Science and Art.
3. EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT—in which is given brilliant essays upon a wide range of subjects; social topics discussed and current incidents and doings glanced at.
4. FASHION DEPARTMENT—containing a resume of the Paris, London and New York Fashions, illustrated with ingraving of the latest styles.
5. LETERARY NOTES—devoted to reviews and criticisms of new books and general information.
6. CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT—furnishes instruction and entertainment to the Boys and Girls, and those older people who have young hearts. It is embellished with high class illustrations of Natural History, Wonderful Scenery and rare incidents.
7. HOUSEKEEPER'S DEPARTMENT—comprising information and receipts, many of which are original and published for the first time all collected from the most authentic sources.

It will be the constant aim of the HOUSEHOLD PUPLISHING COMPANY to make THE ILLUSTRATED HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE in the future, as WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE has been in the past,

THE BEST DOLLAR MONTHLY PUBLISHED,

sparing neither effort, trouble nor expense in securing the BEST WRITERS as contributors, and the BEST ARTISTS to produce illustrations to enrich its pages.

AGENTS WANTED.—We require a good, FAITHFUL AGENT in every town throughout the United States and Canada, who will earnestly engage in the business of procuring subscribers—not for a few days or a month only, but permanently—with a firm determination to canvass thoroughly and carefully the entire field selected, improving every opportunity to realize all that can be made from the introduction of the Magazine.

OUR PREMIUM AND CLUBBING LISTS offer great inducements for working in our behalf. Schools and Churches have here an unusual opportunity to procure Musical Instruments from the best manufacturers, with comparatively slight exertions. Artisans, Professional Men and Students may gratify their literary tastes by ordering from the Clubbing Lists. Children may earn and own many long and desired articles by obtaining the few subscribers required.

TERMS—YEARLY SUBSCRIPTION, $1.00.

Specimen Copies mailed, post-paid, to any address upon receipt of ten cents.

The postage within the United States is Ten Cents a year, which must be forwarded with the subscription, as the new Postal Law requiring the prepayment of postage on all magazines by publishers themselves, instead of subscribers, compels us to collect the postage in advance.

Send for Circulars containing rates of commission and inducements to canvassers, and the Premium and Clubbing Lists.

THE YOSEMITE VALLEY.

We continue to offer this celebrated Oil Chromo in connection with the ILLUSTRATED HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE, furnishing them to our subscribers upon the following very generous terms:

WITH MOUNTED CHROMO, $2.00. UNMOUNTED CHROMO, $1.50

The Mounted Chromo is delivered at our office, or by canvassers, or boxed and sent by express at the subscriber's expense, or sent by mail upon receipt of Twenty Cents for extra postage. The Unmounted Chromo is sent free by mail.

All communications must be addressed

Agricultural.

☞ NOTE.—We earnestly desire that this department of our paper shall be made as useful as possible to our Agricultural friends, and therefore extend a cordial invitation to all parties interested, to favor us with contributions. Individuals who have made useful experiments and yet do not feel competent to write them out in form for publication, if they will favor us with the results we will take pleasure in putting them in proper shape.

WINTER DAIRYING.—Mr. Boies of Marengo, Ill., who has a herd of about 100 cows employded in butter dairying, is an advocate of what may be denominated as "winter dairying." In other words he would have his cows "come in milk" during the fall, and he asserts that it is impossible to get the fullest profit from a butter dairy without having the cows "come in" in winter. His plan is to feed high in the winter, and then in the spring, when the cows naturally begin to fall off in milk, the May and June pastures send them up to nearly their full yield again. Then as the summer drouth occurs, or as grass begins to fail, the cows are "dried off" and take their rest preparatory for the next calving.

Again, cold weather is more favorable for the manufacture of butter than the heat of summer; and as the butter market is generally better in the winter than in summer, together with less risk to butter in the transportation, these considerations, at least, have considerable weight in favor of winter dairying. When proper provision is made for keeping the cows in warm quarters, well ventilated, together with an ample supply of succulent food, such as roots, etc., the plan would seem to have advantage over the ordinary course pursued by dairymen. We should suppose, however, that the yield of milk by winter dairying would be less than by summer dairying; but in Mr. Boies' case the product is large and compares favorably with the best averages. This, doubtless, is due in part to his system of buying all the best cows that can be had, sparing no expense, we are told, in obtaining good cows whenever they can be had. Winter dairying is practical by those who sell milk for city or village consumption; but for butter or cheese making we believe it has not been tried to any extent. The plan offers some suggestions to our dairymen, and we should be glad to hear from our dairy readers on the subject, either for or against.

MINGLING THE MILK OF DIFFERENT COWS.—At a recent meeting of the dairymen, one of the members gave some interesting details in regard to experiments in mingling the milk and cream of different breeds. He found that the mixed milk from two breeds will not produce as much butter as will the same milk churned separately. When a large globuled milk and a smaller globuled milk are churned together, the large globules separate first into butter, and the breaking of the smaller globules appears to be retarded. When therefore a Jersey cow is kept in an Ayreshire or Dutch herd to influence the color, the globules of the Jersey milk are broken first in the churn, and while the smaller globules are being broken, the butter that came first is over-churned,—theoretically, at least—the quality of the result is impaired, if not the quantity lessened. When a few Ayreshire or Dutch cows are kept in a herd of Jerseys and the milk churned together, both theoretically and practically, a large portion of the butter of the small globuled milk is left in the buttermilk in a state of globules. A like application may be made to herds of native or grade cows. Unless there is uniformity with certain limits in the milk globule there is a loss of product.

A NOVEL instance of applying fertilizers to an apple tree is related in a recent number of the Scientific American. A Pippin apple tree that was old and hollow, and had borne nothing of any account for several years was selected for the experiment. The hollow to the height of eight feet was filled up with a compost of garden mould, wood ashes and a little waste lime, and the filling was securely fastened with boards. As a result the next year's crop of sound fruit amounted to sixteen bushels, and for at least a dozen years the old tree has continued to flourish and bear well. There is scarce an old orchard in the state that does not contain some hollow trees, and the experiment which proved so successful in this case is certainly worth trying.

WHAT ARE THE BEST FOWLS.—If fowls are kept for eggs alone, the Leghorns, the Houdans, or the Black Spanish fowls would be the most prolific. When well fed and cared for, young hens of these breeds may be expected to lay twelve dozen of eggs per year until they are four years old. But these fowls are light bodied and not good for the table. Game fowls are prolific of eggs, and of the best quality for the table, but are small. The light Brahma fowls are decidedly the most profitable for all purposes. A hen of this breed will lay steadily through the winter, hatch a breed of chickens early in the spring, begin to lay again before her brood is weaned, and continue until fall, when she suspends her "lay" only for a short time. When three years old and fat she will weigh six pounds, and be very good eating.

JOSEPH HARRIS, extensive pork raiser of Rochester, N. H., says that with him two pounds of corn will produce, when feed to his pigs, a little more than a pound of pork. Probably not many other farmers can report as good returns for the corn they feed, but Mr. Harris insists that it two pounds of corn do not produce one pound of dressed pork then farmer should understand that the fault is in poor stock, bad tending, or damp, cold pens, and should make a change at once. Mr. Harris claims to get the value of the food which is consumed by his pigs back again in the manure, and says that he does not know a more profitable branch of farming than raising pigs which can be sold at seven or eight dollars a head at four months old.

CHARCOAL AND ASHES, An Indiana farmer says, fed to hogs, are a preventive of hog cholera. Whether or not, it is wholesome for the pig to eat them occasionally.

A minister asked a tipsy fellow, leaning up against a fence, where he expected to go when he died. "If I can't get along any better than I do now," said he, "I shan't go anywhere. I'll stay where I am!"

Ayer's
Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities or diseases that have lurked in the system for years soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the Blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

MEDICAL.

CHEROKEE REMEDY.
THE GREAT INDIAN DIURETIC.
INFINITELY SUPERIOR TO BUCHU.

Nine tenths of the human family suffer, directly or indirectly, at one time or other, from diseases or irregularities of the generative system, while the victims of indiscretion, and of quack treatment, are comparatively numerous.

The idea that patients cannot treat themselves successfully in these cases, has long ago been exploded. A good and reliable medicine, prepared by an experienced physician, from the original Indian Recipe, that is guaranteed to effect a can be as safely relied upon as the prescription of the most skillful practitioner. Such a medicine is the celebrated

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

Full directions accompany each bottle, and if they are carefully followed, a quick and permanent cure is guarranteed. Price $2.00 per bottle.

THE CHEROKEE INJECTION, should always be used in conjunction with the Remedy for both incipient and obstinate cases of Gonorrhœa. Price $2.00 per bottle.

CHEROKEE CURE

for seminal weakness (spermatorrhœa), is a simple vegetable medicine that was used for many years in the practice of the physician who first gave the remedy to the public. It has effected cures that would scarcely be credited except on ocular evidence of the fact. Full directions, with pamphlet containing all particulars of symptoms, treatment, &c., accompany each bottle. Price $2.00 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

CHEROKEE PILLS.

These Pill are prepared expressly for the cure of those irregularities to which ladies are subject, and will be found safe, reliable and effectual, for the cure of Suppression, Green Sickness, Pain in the Back, Hysteria, Sick Headache, &c., &c. Price $1.00 per box.

Heimstreet's Hair Restorative,
OR INIMITABLE HAIR COLORING.

NOT A DYE.—Heimstreet's "Hair Coloring is not a Dye, and its operation is not by any chemical effect, but by a natural restoration of the glands, thus giving the hair the color it originally had.

NATURALNESS.—When the hair is dyed, its color is leaden hued and unnatural, but when restored by HEIMSTREET'S HAIR COLORING, its appearance is so perfectly natural that no one can detect the use of any Restorative.

STAINLESS.—While the Restorative acts promptly on the hair, it leaves no stain or mark whatever on the skin. It is composed of ingredients that form a perfect dressing as well as a coloring, so that no oils, &c., are necessary.

THIS MOST EFFECTIVE of all the Hair Restorers is for sale by all druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Numerous certificates from those who have used it are in the possession of the proprietors.

PARK'S BALSAM
OR WILD CHERRY AND TAR.

BALSAM.—Nothing is more soothing to the irritated membranes than the pure BALSAMS of which this medicine is composed.

WILD CHERRY.—The true bark of Wild Cherry is an unfailing specific for all throat and pectorial diseases.

TAR.—The wonderful healing properties of Tar when united with the other ingredients, render PARK'S BALSAM the most efficient Cough Medicine ever offered to the public.

CONSUMPTION.—The many cases of Consumption that have been cured justify us in the assertion that it is the very best medicine for that disease ever discovered.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

STEPHEN FISK, of New York, says his daughter had consumption, and terbucles had formed in her lungs. He was induced to try Park's Balsam, which effected a speedy cure.

T. EDWARD FLEET, of Brooklyn says, I think it is the best medicine for affections of the lungs I ever used.

G. S. FANCHER, of New York says, I feel fully persuaded that Park's Balsam has saved my life.

We have in our possession hundreds of certificates from others, and all of the same cheering import. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

EGYPTIAN
Rat and Vermin Destroyer

FOR EXTERMINATING RATS, MICE, WATER BUGS, ROUCHES, RED ANTS, &c.

STRENGTH.—When a Rat tastes the Egyptian Destroyer, his death warrant is signed, sure. It cannot fail to kill. It also creates great thirst, and the rat will search for water out of doors, and not die in his hole, to cause a stench that cannot be got out.

ATTRACTIVENESS.—Rats are the shrewdest of vermin. It is hard to get them to eat poison. An ingredient in the Egyption Destroyer is a perfect bait, and they are attracted rather than freightened be it. "Rats (not children) cry for it.

KEEPING SOFT.—People know how the ordinary Rat Pastes dry up and become useless, causing annoyance and loss. The Egyptian Destroyer is fully warranted to keep soft, fresh and effective in any climate for years.

SURE DEATH.—The Egyptian Destroyer kills every time. Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials are now in the hands of the proprietors, substantiating its great merits as the best preparation for destroying Vermin in the world. Be sure and ask for the "Egyptian," and take no other.

Put up in large glass bottles. Price, 25 cts. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

MEDICAL.

Wright's Rejuvenating Elixer.

For the restoration of Nature's forces. It gives new life and vigor to the aged, and causes the blood of youth to course through the veins. It effectually cures Impotency, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Muscular Power, Low Spirits, Disorganization of the Generative Organs, and all the train of ills that follow in the path of the transgressor of Nature's laws. Price $2 per bottle.

It will be readily understood that in the brief space afforded by the advertising columns of a public print, it is impossible to give all particulars of the diseases that may be cured by the CHEROKEE MEDICINES. That they are destined to become immensely popular is plainly obvious in consequence of their

GREAT INTRINSIC MERIT.

The pamphlet and circulars that accompany the medicines give all the information which cannot be given here, and the remedies may be had of any respectable druggist.

AT PRIVATE SALE.

A valuable farm containing 215 acres, situate within one mile of Milesburg, and three miles of Bellefonte, at the junction of the Bald Eagle Valley and Snow Shoe railroads, near the depot, Schools, Churches, Post office, Mills, etc. The lands are FREE from STONE, level, well fenced, and under a good state of cultivation. A valuable vein of

LIME STONE ROCK

is on the farm, and a village is growing up around it, which gives a fair prospect of an increase in value before long. The Philipsburg turnpike runs through it for a distance of ¾ of a mile rendering a large strip on each side available for house lots, from which the entire price of the farm might be realized, lots having sold heretofore for $100 apiece. The farm is well watered, having water in all the fields, good wells at the house and barn with pumps all in good order. There also are 50 acres of good

PINE AND OAK TIMBER.

The land has a southern exposure and is therefore very early. There are two houses on the farm, both facing the turnpike. One containing five rooms on the first floor with Hall and five on the second and back Kitchen, with room over-head. Connected with this house is a good log barn, ice house and other out buildings. On the other side of the road is the other house containing eight rooms with good barn and out buildings. This farm could be divided into two parts, and will be if purchasers so desire, making one containing 130 acres with the large house, and the other containing 36 acres with the small house. Terms easy. Inquire of James L. Sommerville, or R. T. Downing, or at the office of the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN. 38 tf.

HAVE YOU TRIED
JURUBEBA?
ARE YOU
Weak, Nervous or Debilitated?

Are you so Languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful tonic and invigorator, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is no alcoholic appetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.

It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alternative known."

Ask your druggist for it.

ELAINE

AS AN ILLUMINATOR.

WHY IT IS THE SAFEST.

ELAINE will not explode while burning in a lamp, nor in any other way, as it does not contain any of the explosive compounds so frequently met with in the ordinary oil for illuminating. A lamp, filled with ELAINE, if upset or accidently broken, will not explode or burn. There is no position in which you can put a lamp filled with ELAINE, for common use, in which it will explode. As no other illuminator has such advantages of safety, ELAINE IS CERTAINLY THE SAFEST FAMILY ILLUMINATING OIL KNOWN.

EAGLEVILLE.—A Musical Convention commenced at Eagleville, yesterday in the Baptist Church, under charge of Prof. H. W. Hand, conductor and Mr. H. F. Greendler, pianist. The exercises will close on Saturday evening next with a grand concert, as the proceeds are for the benefit of the Eagleville Baptist Church, we hope the sessions of the convention will be well patronized.

——Here is a poet who says; "I'm sitting sadly on the strand, that stretches to the water's brink; and as the days slips slowly by, I idly fold my hands and think." While he's sitting idly loafing round on the strand, his family may be freezing and starving at home. He should skirmish about before the day slips slowly by and get a job at chopping wood, or shoveling coal.

DOMESTIC AFFLICTION—A SAD CASE.—We don't like to bring domestic troubles into print. It has always been disgusting and nauseating to us to see the private troubles of a family dragged out and exposed to the gaze of a cold and heartless public. But the following bit of scandal is of such a startling nature that it will no doubt bear with it a degree of melancholy interest to many homes. The names of the parties are suppressed for prudential reasons, but the facts, as we found them in an exchange, are substantially as follows:

Quite a lively sensation was created a few days ago by flying rumors of trouble in the home of a well-known and respected citizen. It seems strange that a woman surrounded by wealth and everything she can wish for, a kind and loving husband, hosts of friends, and indeed everything that can make a home almost a heaven, should stoop to folly, and by one criminal action, cast all away and throw herself into the lap of misery. The circumstances in the above case, as near as we can learn them, are as follows: It appears that the husband referred to left the city to go on a business tour of a week's duration, but as it did not require his attention for so long a period as he expected, he returned two days before he was looked for, on the late train from the East. It was midnight before he reached his door, little dreaming of the misery that was in store for him beyond the threshold of his once happy home. Letting himself in by his night-key, he very quietly walked up to his bed-room. The gas was turned down very low, and as he opened the door part way he was surprised to find that there was some person asleep by his wife's side. Almost crazed by the sight he could hardly believe his eyes, and his first impulse was to awake the guilty pair and confront them both. On a sober second thought, he concluded it would be better to have a witness. So quietly leaving the room, he stole down stairs and out into the street. He soon succeeded in finding a policeman, to whom he hastily related what he had seen and what he desired. Almost broken down and overcome by the great shock, the husband led the way to his wife's room, and stationed the policeman at the foot of the bed. The gas was burning so low that they could only distinguish the two figures there asleep. The husband then approached the gas jet, and suddenly turned on a full head, and there beside his wife, in the place he only of all men had a right to be, he discovered—his mother-in-law.

——The editors of the Gazette & Bulletin, Williamsport, must devote a good deal of their time to the manufacture of witty articles. They have a predilection for turning everything into a joke; and the way they succeed, proves that they, and many other writers of the same ilk, must lead a happy sort of life. Still we have often thought that slang is not wit. Neither is the misspelling of words humor. And we may go even farther and say that the prevalent disposition to present everything, serious as well as trifling, in a ridiculous light, is also bad as a matter of morals. Yet there are many people whose sole effort in writing and in conversation appears to be in the direction of what they consider "smartness." That constant trifling with the sad realities of human kind, with the events of the day, and with the character of the living and with the memory of the dead, is lowering the tone not only of literature, but of morals. Life and the world itself are not a huge joke, however some people may effect to consider it.

——A man by the name of Furguson in this city, claims to have discovered an "infallible cure for corns, hard or soft" and he devotes the most of his time in taveling about and selling it. He became religious a few week's since and at a church meeting he is reported to have made a speech as follows: I have made up my mind to give up the labor of my hands to the church and the spread of the gospel. For the support of this church I will give fifty dollars a year; twenty five dollars to the missionary fund; and a hundred more to the various charitable and other institutions of the church that deserve the support of its members. I shall give a title of every thing I possess to religious, uses, one thing and only one excepted, which I reserve for the exclusive support of myself and family: that is my celebrated salve the well known infallible cure for Corns, hard or soft, which I will continue to sell as heretofore for the moderate price of twenty five cents per box.

——The contestants yesterday for the mayoralty of Lock Haven were R. R. Bridgens, Esq., and T. C. Hipple, Esq. Richie Bridgens is well known hereabouts, and it will be a matter of satisfaction to his many friends to know that he was yesterday the candidate of the high, moral element of that city. The various church denominations of the place, in recognition of his many virtues and eminent christian character resolved to support him to a man. It was understood that he would be elected by a small majority.

——The next exciting election will be for a County Superintendent of Public Schools, on the first Monday of May next, which promises to be exceedingly interesting.

——S. S. Lyon, Esq., was yesterday elected Chief Burgess, and the query as to why he has been so industriously cultivating a snowy, dignified full beard is now explained.

——Some fellow, whom one prayer book would last a century, has offered to bet $2,000 that he can drive from Arch Springs, in Sinking Valley, to Boalsburg, this county, in forty minutes.

——Mr. A. Sternberg, the tobacconist, embarked in politics yesterday, and made a run, on the Democratic side, for Chief Burgess. Although he received a large vote, he "didn't quite made it."

——Prof. Gahan, County Sup't of Lycoming county, goes about from district to district and calls the school children, parents and teachers together in the evenings and shows them all how to manage and teach a school.

——From the Journal, we learn that a teamster was brought into Sandy Ridge, one of those cold days last week in a benumbed and perfectly helpless condition. An hour more of that weather would have frozen him to death.

——Mrs. Clouse, near Tyrone last week, attempted to pour coal oil from a can into a stove in order to increase combustion. The can exploded like a bomb-shell. Three small orphaned children by the name of Clouse, are now living out with strangers.

——A bill has been introduced into the Legislature, forbidding the carrying of concealed weapons, and instances razors as among the forbidden articles. There are a great many young men of color in Bellefonte who will be deprived, by this law, of their favorite article of furniture.

——A son of David Buck, of Warriorsmark, went to spelling school at the Cross Roads, in a sleigh on Friday night. While he was enjoying the exercises inside the school house, his horse broke loose from the hitching post, ran away, and in some way managed to break one of his legs, making it necessary to shoot the animal.

——About three o'clock on Sunday morning last, some unknown parties who had been howling around the streets for several hours, broke into a whiskey shop under Haupt's basement, near the depot, and stole the entire stock of whiskey on hand. The unfortunate vender was, however, able to get hold of sufficient stock to open up again on Sunday night.

——Mr. William S. Tripple, our well known excellent tailor, has removed his establishment to Blanchard & McCafferty's new building opposite the railroad depot. Mr. Tripple is a first class tailor, and, in his new quarters, will be still better able to serve his numerous customers. The room vacated by Mr. Tripple is being handsomely fitted up by Mr. R. F. Rankin, who intends shortly to open a drug store.

FREE LECTURE.—The "Junior Sons of '76" have engaged Col. W. W. Brown of this place to deliver a lecture in the Court House on next Tuesday evening. The subject of the lecture has not been announced. The proceeds will be given to the poor of Bellefonte and vicinity. Col. Brown, as a speaker, needs no introduction to the people of Centre county. We have no doubt the lecture will be well patronized both because the object is a chartiable one and on account of the curiosity our citizens will have to see the renowed Colonel in a new role. Admission 25 cents.

——The good people of Beech Creek will give a vocal and instrumental concert in the Presbyterian church of that place on next Saturday evening for the benefit of the Kansas sufferers. This is a worthy and philanthropic movement of our Beech Creek friends and is worthy of the most liberal patronage. We are assured that the entertainment will be an excellent one and we trust that it will be well patronized. A man who is too stingy to pay thirty cents to hear an excellent choir of singers when the money goes to keep the destitute people of Kansas from actual starvation, is stingy enough to—well to be a banker.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Daniel Bittner, of Eagleville, this county, met with an accident near the old depot, at Lock Haven, on Thursday of last week which resulted in the loss of a valuable horse and a narrow escape of Mr. Bittner. While drivin across the railroad, his horse and sleigh were struck by the engine of a passenger trsin. Both hind legs of the horse were severed from the body, while Mr. Bittner and the sleigh were thrown upon the cow-catcher. Fortunately he escaped without any serious injury; the sleigh, however, was crushed to atoms. The horse, minus hind legs, ran up the Avenue, a dozen or more rods, where it was shot and put out of misery.

——MISS VINNIE REAM is again in luck. She has lately received a contract to make a statue of Farragut. There is a story going the rounds of the newspapers to this effect:

Vinnie is a native of Wisconsin, where her father was territorial treasurer. When nine years old, she was sent to Christian College, Mississippi, where she attracted considerable attention by her poetic and musical ability. A few years later, while visiting a sculpter's studio, she determined to become an artist.

The above statements are conspicuously inexact. The fact is, Miss Vinnie is a Centre County girl, as is conclusively shown by the following statements made to our neighbors of the Watchman by Mr. John Rishel:

Mr. Rishel informs us that Robert Ream, Vinnie's grandfather, moved from one of the lower counties in this State into Pennsvalley, this county, on to the Hoffer farm, then on to the Gregg farm, and from that to George's Valley, where he died about thirty-seven years ago. He was a revolutionary soldier. Robert Ream, the father of Miss Vinnie, was his youngest son, and was raised on the Gregg farm. He at one time clerked for one of the Duncans, and afterwards held a position in the store of Mr. Hamilton Humes, in Bellefonte. After this he moved to Wisconsin, where he married. He held a position in the patent office under President Peirce, and at the expiration of his term there, removed to Arkansas, and thence back to Washington, where he is now living, Mr. Rishel thinks, if alive. Among his relatives in Centre county are Mrs. George Rishel, his sister, and the mother of our informant, in Potter township. Mrs. Peter Breon, who still lives in Pennsvalley, and who has sons now living in Bellefonte, as was also Miss Jane Ream, who died in Unionville, this county, a few years ago. Mr. Ream had three children, and Vinnie was the youngest. The Reams of Clearfield county are also relatives of Miss Vinnie's. Mr. Rishel says that the Reams of Pleasant Gap were not related.

If further proof were needed, we might add that Miss Vinnie's father was also a clerk in the store of E. C. Humes Esq., in this place; and that about two years ago, he came here to visit Mr. Humes. Vinnie Ream's first work was a statue of Lincoln for which she received $10.000. Then she went to Rome and became famous.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONTRIBUTIONS.—About the first of October, 1873, the officers of the Centre County Sabbath School Association kindly consented to bring the Semi-centennial appeal of the American Sunday School Union before the Sabbath Schools of the county.

Contributions were solicited for the extension of Sunday School Missions not only in Pennsylvania but throughout the country.

A very gratifying response has been made to this appeal by the schools of Centre County. The following are the names of contributing schools:

Pleasant Gap, Union; Stormstown, M. E.; Hublersburg, Union; Kennedys, M. E.; Howard, Disciple; Snow Shoe, Presb.; Lemont, Presb.; Buffalo Run, Presb.; Milesburg, Presb.; Bellefonte, Presb.; Centre Line, Luth.; Bellefonte, St. John's Refr'd; Mannor, Union; Earlystown, Union; St. John's, Union; Madisonburg, Union; Madisonburg, Evang'l; Penn Hall, Union; Centre Hall, Union; Plum Grove, Union; Millheim, Union; Farmers Mills, Union; Egg Hill, Union; Franklin, Union; Pine Stump, Union; Pleasant Hill, Union; Oak Grove, Union.

The number of schools contributing is twenty-seven. Receipts have been sent to the superintendents. The average contribution is $3,55. Total amount contributed $96,15.

Expense of postal cards, postage and printing $6,50, leaving a balance of $89,65 to be applied to the work.

The officers of the County Association and of the American Sunday School Union desire to express their sincere thanks for these gifts, and add the prayer that the current year may be one of abounding prosperity for all the Sunday schools in Centre county.

——The extreme cold of Tuesday night proved serious in its effect upon railroad iron. Three rails were broken on the Moshannon branch and two on the main line of the T. & C. road, one at Bigler's and one between this place and Steiner's. The latter was the only one which caused any damage, and there David Kincaid's train was thrown from the track while returning from his first trip to Osceola, about half-past seven in the morning. The engine was coming down backward, and, with the tender, passed safely over the broken rail, but the thirteen cars following were thrown from the track and piled up as only railroad cars can pile up. It took the wreckers until two o'clock to clear the track, and the passenger train for Curwensville, due at fifteen minutes past ten, was delayed until that time.—Journal.

——At the last term of Court our young friend William F. Reber, Esq., was admitted to practice in the various courts of this county. Mr. Reber has been acting as Deputy-Prothonotary for some time since and is a young man of excellent character and abilities. We understand that he passed a very creditable examination. He has our best wishes and hope that fame and fortune are both in store for him.

——In the court proceedings of last week, a mistake occurred. The statement was inadvertently made that Charles Brown had been sent to jail. This was wrong; it was William (not the ex-editor) Brown who went to jail, and, in justice to William, we make this correction. By the way, is there anybody that, for a large sum of money, would agree to make a list of all the Browns in Centre county?

——The members of the Mountain City Band of this place have arranged to give a concert in the Town Hall at Millheim, next Monday evening. The programme we have seen, and we are sure their entertainment will be quite entertaining. Music by the band; songs cornet solos, dances, a performing dog, to conclude with a laughable farce, entitled "The Wood Sawyer's Revenge." The Mountain City boys are fine musicians and have considerable histrionic talent.

——Don't forget the great National holiday, February 22. Washington was a native of Virginia, and won distinction by commanding the continental army in the war of the Revolution. After eight years in the field, he was elected president of the United States, and after serving in that capacity for four years, was re-elected to the same office for a like period. He never made a speech, was a good farmer, an honest man, an upright citizen, an affectionate husband, and a kind step-father,

A WORTHILY BESTOWED COMPLIMENT.—At a meeting of the Quarterly Conference of the M. E. Church of Bellefonte, held Tuesday evening, February 9th, 1875, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we recognize in Rev. M. L. Smyser, who, for the past three years, has been the pastor of this charge, a faithful pastor, an able and earnest preacher, a truly pious man of God, meriting the confidence, love and esteem of every member of the church, and of the community; that we fully sanction his entire christian ministry and successful efforts among us, in the cause of Christ; and do hereby record our gratitude to God for his appointment to this charge; that we will ever bear in our hearts, a warm and abiding appreciation of his faithful services, trusting that his future ministry may be attended with even more abundant success.

IN MEMORIAL.—The Evangelical Lutheran Sabbath School of Milroy, Pa., adopted by a rising vote the report of the committee previously appointed to draft resolutions relative to the death of Charles Miller.

The death of our beloved friend and Sabbath School scholar, Charles Miller, occurred at Centre Hall, Pa., we commend the following resolutions as expressive of the feelings of this Sabbath School.

That the unexpected death of this excellent and worthy young man cut down in the dawn of usefulness, comes to us with a new and solemn admonition, to be also and always ready for in such an hour as ye think not the son of man cometh; that in devotions to the Sabbath school cause and the interests of a church he has left us an example that we should follow.

That his usefulness in the various offices of life he was called upon to fill and a knowledge of the Holy Scriptures to which so few attain at so early an age formed a record well worthy our imitation and should stimulate us to renewed exertions to make for ourselves a like record.

That we as a Sabbath school bow in resignation to the Divine will ever knowing that the Lord doeth all things well.

Feeling our great loss as members of the Sabbath school we deeply sympathize with the bereaved friends and devoutly pray in their behalf for all-sufficient grace in the sudden and unexpected trial.

That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to his family and also inserted in the various papers of Centre county.

THE SPRING MILLS CONVENTION.—The people of the above pleasant little town, have arranged for a grand musical convention, to commence on next Monday evening, February 22, and continue all week, closing with a concert on Saturday evening, February 27th. The exercises will be under the direction of Messrs. J. A. Weaver and W. T. Meyers. These gentlemen have fine qualities as musicians and large experience in conducting conventions. The committee of arrangements, of which Col. R. H. Duncan is chairman, announce that all visitors will be entertained free of charge. The most extensive and complete arrangements have been made to make the week one of great interest and pleasure.

——The Pennsylvania State College, after the usual eight-weeks of winter vacation, resumed operation again last week. For several days, every train brought numbers of students to this place on their way to the college.

It should be a matter of satisfaction to the Commonwealth to note the steady progress of this institution. Every session gives indication of its growing steadily and substantially into public favor, by the increased number of students. The people of Centre County are justly proud of an Institution, within its limits, that is second to none in the State.

MARRIED

On Feb 3rd, 1875, at the residence of the bride's sister, by the Rev. Mr. Memminger, Mr. Will R. Marshall, of Prairie Home, Shelby Co, Ill., to Miss Rebecca Bodle, of Unionville, Centre Co., Pa.

On the 11th ult., at the residence of Geo. L. Peters, Union twp., by the Rev. A. B. Runyan, Mr. Alonzo McEwen and Miss Mary R. Brown, both of Union twp.

DIED.

At the residence of Edward T. Tuten, in Bellefonte on Sunday, February 7th, 1875, Mrs. Catharine W. Fifield, aged 77 years, 4 months and 24 days.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Catharine W. Evans, was born at Fryeburg, Maine, Sept 12th, 1797. She was united in wedlock to Mr. Benjamin Fifield, in 1821. Mr. Fifield was a descendant of the Frye's after whom the town was named. In the war of 1812 he answered his country's call for help and served faithfully during the war. His father was a lieutenant in the Patriot army of the Revolution. We make mention of these facts in relation to his early history and connections, so that distant friends who may see this notice will be in no doubt as to her identity. She was the mother of five children, three sons and two daughters, all of whom she outlived, save one, Mrs. Edward T. Tuten. She has gone to meet them now in the spirit land. Her death was but a kind and gentle servant that unlocked with noiseless hand life's flower encircled door, to show her those she loved.

For a period of over forty years, she was a devout member of the Trinitarian Congregational Church; a constant reader of God's word; and an earnest, sincere christian woman. For thirteen years, she suffered from the ills and weakness attendant upon dissolving nature; and yet in all that time, she was never known to murmur or say that she would have it otherwise. She entertained no fear, no unwillingness to die, but cheerfully resigned herself to the disposal of that Infinite Father, in whom she had always put her trust. H.
